CTAD is going to be interesting this year..
- Adrian H @Adrian_H · Oct 15, 2022
I wonder what this poster is going to be about and what experimental data it might show.. 🤔
- \$SAVA
- happy to let you know that after evaluation by the CTAD Scientific Com abstract entitled "Rigor and Replication in Alzheimer's Therap yment: A Case Study" has been accepted for a poster presentation ited onsite at the 15th edition of Clinical Trials on Alzheimer's Di 2022) to be held in San Francisco on November 29- December 2, 2022.
- Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 15, 2022
Attacking @CassavaSciences at CTAD? No concern for their IP or patents? Stay classy Adrian. You are really something.
- Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 15, 2022
cc @CTADconference are you all cool with poster presenters openly harassing other attendees in advance of #CTAD2022
- Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 15, 2022
Is this type of unprofessional behavior what the #Alzheimers scientific community needs?
- Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 15, 2022
At what point will @alzassociation @jpreventionalz1 and other leaders speak up and prevent this harassment? Scientific criticism is fine, openly harassing your fellow @CTADconference attendees in advance of the conference? Not ok.
- Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 15, 2022
You should absolutely be allowed to present whatever "data" you claim to have provided you aren't breaking any patent laws. It's your foreboding tone, tagging \$SAVA, it's beneath quality academic discourse. Be better is my point
- Finding Nemo @Nemo_is_NoOne · Oct 15, 2022
What are you afraid of?
- Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 15, 2022
I'm not "afraid" of anything. Actually large snakes and ALS do scare me. I'm very interested in seeing whatever "data" Adrian et al have if it relates to \$SAVA. It's the constant harassing and mocking tone that irks me. "ITS ALL MADE UP", that type of stuff.
- Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 15, 2022
But as I said, if sci committee reviewed his poster submission and accepted it, fine. I'm not going to the conf, but I believe all posters will be viewable online post embargo and it will certainly be interesting to see if he somehow disproved the drug binding.

0 chance he shows up. If he is intersted in embarassing himself, he would have posted his submittal here. I hope he does go, it will be very humbling for him.

If you are so confident why did you delete all of your tweets three weeks ago?

cool story bro...but that doesn't explain why you deleted all of your tweets. If that was the reason you wouldn't be back at it just a few weeks later. You could always just block report the crazy ones to twitter.

In the two years the FDA has been monitoring the dosing of patients, how many safety concerns have they flagged? 0. In fact, they are extending an OL study for patients completing phase 3 this coming month. Would the FDA do that if patients were being harmed? who would extend?

and you think the FDA wouldn't have figured this out already? I guess there are no scientists there with better credentials then the gutless bottom feeder adrian?

Wasn't Dr. Brodakin interested in this "bomb" you're set to drop on the femtomolar binding to simu before he covered?

If @Adrian_H proves simufilam doesn't bind it's target and his methods are sound I will applaud him and sell my $SAVA.

Water Lily @champy_robert · Oct 16, 2022

Agreed.

1

Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 16, 2022

In the meantime I believe in $SAVA and feel some (not all) of the short sellers have been very nasty, immature and repugnant.

Jane Doe @JaneDoe35299512 · Oct 16, 2022

I look forward to whatever data @Adrian_H has. I only ask that he not be nasty toward Drs Wang and Burns. $SAVA is not evil.

I don't recall $SAVA "swearing" to anything. Science evolves. Evil (in my book) would be $SAVA deliberately lying about the science, and I don't believe they have done that.
